like Houdini, somebody will take the top off and you look in there and there won't be anything in there but air, and I'll still be making my motions, discussing bills, irritating you all and you've got your cloture motion. So, Senator Scott Moore, I'm now going to withdraw all of my amendments. I'm not going to filibuster this and I want you to adopt it. I'm going to vote against it, I've got to, but I want the rest of you to adopt this. You've wanted it for years. I have opposed it for years. Now I want to give you what it is that you want. This is one session I want you to start out with every single tool that you have crafted that you said you desire so you can control me, and I want to help you do that. So, with that, I'm withdrawing all of those motions and you can proceed, Senator Moore, to round up your votes and adopt the cloture rule.

PRESIDENT: They are withdrawn and we're back to the bill. Senator Higgins.

SENATOR HIGGINS: Thank you, Mr. President. Is it Senator Chambers' amendment that has been withdrawn or Senator Moore's?

PRESIDENT: No, Senator Moore's amendments are there, rule changes, and Senator Chambers has withdrawn all of his amendments, so if you wish to speak, speak on Senator Moore's motion.

SENATOR HIGGINS: Thank you. I would just like to ask Senator Moore a couple of questions.

PRESIDENT: Senator Moore, would you respond, please.

SENATOR HIGGINS: Just for clarity, Senator Moore, I'm reading this and trying to tell myself I should understand it, but at any stage of consideration the introducer of the bill may move for cloture and shall be subject to cloture motion only after 12 hours of debate, the committees. The presiding officer immediately recognizes the introducer and then order debate on the pending amendment or motion to cease. Then the vote, the vote on the pending amendment or motion shall be taken up immediately. Following the vote on the pending matter, a vote on the cloture motion shall be taken. If we've already voted on the amendment, why would we then want a vote on cloture? I'm just thick-headed today.

SENATOR MOORE: Well, you'd have to vote for cloture because
